- How does FAB deal with Duplicate posting? FAB uses a cache system to double check each post against what has already been posted on your blog.
- Can I Create blogs using FAB? YES! Optional Mass Word Press Install service to create unlimited blogs on any or all of your domains! More info
- Can I control how the post will look on my blog? Yes you can make your own templates with HTML so each post is done through your template with what ever links or info you would like. Including advanced filters with options like keyword restriction and inclusion allowing only post containing your keywords. Also restriction of post containing your given keywords. Length of post text can be set as well as a banned list for spam.
- How can I best advertise on my blog? FAB has a advertising tab where you can make up post or adverts that will be posted over and over again on your blog, you decide how often! Point the advertising tab to a RSS feed full of advertising or a sponsors RSS and it will post from that feed the same way salt and peppered throughout the blog.
- How do I get the RSS and XML feeds into FAB?
  - 1) You can drag and drop anywhere on the program the feeds icon or URL.
  - 2) Click “show drop box” feature and a small box will appear on top all other windows so you can easily drag and drop feeds into the box while surfing the web.
  - 3) Import and Export feeds to a text file for management of unlimited feeds.
- I have entered my blog info under add a blog wizard and I get this error “can't find xml-rpc path” what is wrong? That means the path is not correct or the login-password is wrong. Go to the main blog and or the login for that blog and Correctly enter your login and password for you to login to that blog system. You may have to turn remote posting “on” inside your admin with some older blog systems. Also if your blog is a www.Blogger.com blog enter www.yourblog.blogger.com If all else fails send a support email and we will look into the trouble and get it working right away.
- What is the Import from CSV function? This feature allows you to upload a file filled with blog URLs, User names and Passwords so you can quickly manage 100's or even 1000's of blogs with FAB. You may also export all your blogs into a CSV file for later or for use in other campaigns. Just right click the program icon tray and choose export to CSV and all your blogs and information is stored as backup.
- What is the YouTube Filter function? If you load YouTube RSS feeds you can choose the check box for “replace image with video” and the Video will posted automatic on your blog Not just the RSS information!

- How do I Include only post with certain keywords on my blog? Just click on the settings tab then choose blogs and categories. Under this tab is all the blogs categories and you can click on each then enter keywords separated by a comma and only post with those keywords will be allowed in that categories.
- How do I Restrict post with certain keywords from getting on my blog? Open the setting tab choose filters, and you can type in keywords under the banned keywords window. From here you can also control post length as well as YouTube filter functions.
- How do I control which feed will post to which categories on my blog? Just click on the feeds tab and you can select a feed to edit or edit multiple feeds at once. Open the feed and check the box or boxes of the categories you would like the feed to post to. Also when you first ad a feed you have the same option to control where the feed will post.
- Are people making money using this program? One user bought FAB for $350 (first public release) and loaded it with amazon rss products feeds and started pounding one blog and after a few weeks wrote and said he was getting $3000 a week from that campaign alone! Another user has 300 blogs each making a few dollars a day and send us praise emails every free update we do.
- How can I use the templates? Just create a simple HTML template using the code under the templates tab and each post can have a link to what ever you want. Also you can control how the post looks by a custom template.
- Should I use the blog setup manager to control posting? Yes you must make use of this feature to remove search engine foot prints. Just be sure to use random posting times and to have many user accounts if possible. This way FAB will login under each account and make a post. Then it will log out and do it again under another user name at its next set posting time.
- Are there some videos I can watch to see FAB in action? Yes we have some here on our website www.Freeautoblogger.com/videos.html as well as a YouTube channel of the same name (FreeAutoBlogger) filled with many videos on how to best use FAB.
